"Every day is a good day" to Tsubaki-kun—the joy of living an uneventful life

"The tea stalk is standing up. It looks like something good might happen today." Tsubaki Tarou lives in the city by himself, while his childhood friend Hiraiwa is a divorcee with a child. After a chance reunion, small changes occur in their daily lives.

Hiraiwa and Fumio's two person family naturally mixes together with Tsubaki-kun, and the colors in their lives increase day by-day.

This is a heartful story that details the gentle daily lives and warm exchanges between people.

*T/N: SPECIAL INDOOR SHOES ARE USED INSIDE JAPANESE SCHOOLS INSTEAD OF NORMAL OUTDOOR SHOES IN ORDER TO KEEP THE FLOORS CLEAN. STUDENTS USUALLY STORE THESE INDOOR SHOES IN A BAG. OFTENTIMES CUSTOM-MADE WITH CUTE FABRICS BY THEIR PARENT. THAT'S WHY TAROU LOOKS SO SURPRISED IN THE NEXT PANEL— WHY IS HIRAIWA ASKING HIM TO MAKE A BAG FOR INDOOR SHOES?!

WELL, WHATEVER...
